IAUKEA'S FAREWELL

ISSUES PHILOSOPHIC BULLETIN—
JARRETT TO WORK FOR RESULTS UNINFLUENCED.

Retiring County Sheriff Curtis Iaukea this morning issued the following statement:

"One has to take things philosophically and bow to the inevitable.

"I have come to this conclusion, however, and that is that no matter how well a man may deserve of the public his services go for naught when he stands in the way of party expediency.

"I congratulate the Democratic party for the splendid results achieved, and feel confident that in the hands of the Democratic candidates who have been elected to office, the administration of our local affairs will be well and honestly conducted.

"To those of the voters who gave me their support I wish to give my sincere and grateful acknowledgments."

A number of Iaukea's friends gathered at the police station this morning to express their sympathy at his defeat as an independent candidate for sheriff. E. W. Thwing was not among them, being out of town.

Sheriff-elect William Paul Jarrett was on all sides heartily congratulated on his success at the polls, as was Deputy Sheriff-elect Charlie Rose.

Retiring Sheriff Iaukea congratulated both.

DOCTOR MOORE IN CHARGE OF FEDERAL QUARANTINE

Dr. Cofer, the head of the Marine Hospital Service in this city, will leave for the Coast in one of the first steamers, being under orders to report to the Surgeon-General at Washington.

Dr. Dunlop Moore who has been in this city for several years with the Marine Hospital Service will take charge of the local work during the absence of Dr. Cofer. That his selection for the duty will be pleasing to the business interests here is certain.

He has been here for several years and a more competent man could hardly be found. Before coming to this city he was stationed in the Orient for several years. He is a student of conditions and customs in the Far East and his experience there has greatly increased his value in the cause of his profession. He has been in the quarantine service for over ten years.

BEATEN BY SUGAR, SAYS LINK

Lincoln L. McCandless, who ran strongly for Delegate against Kuhio who is the Delegate-elect, stated to a Star reporter today that he wished to thank those who supported him during the campaign and at the polls.

He feels somewhat disappointed that certain sections from which he had been led to expect larger returns for himself did not pan out according to estimate. He had looked for greater things from Ewa, but says the influence of the plantation interests was against him.

In fact, says McCandless, it was the plantation influence, throughout the Territory, that secured his defeat. McCandless appreciates his good showing in Koolauloa where he beat Kuhio badly.

LANE AND WATKINS DEFEATED THE FIRST MAYOR OF HONOLULU

JOSEPH J. FERN.

A wireless from Maui today announcing the election of Senators Kalama and Robinson, insures Republican control of the Senate by 9 to 6. The first figures, in view of the election of two Democratic senators on this island, were thought to be 8 to 7. The House returns not yet complete, but estimates are that there will be 22 Republicans to 8 Democrats and Home Rulers.

In the election yesterday on this island the Republicans carried their candidate for the offices of delegate, county clerk, auditor and attorney, elected all six representatives from the Fourth district, four from the Fifth and one senator and six of the seven supervisors. The Democrats carried their men for mayor, sheriff, deputy sheriff of Honolulu, two senators, two representatives from the Fifth and one supervisor and treasurer. The Home Rulers were snowed under at every turn.

Charlie Achi proved to have but a small part of the strength so proudly boasted of, getting less than half as many votes as either Fern or Lane.

Up to about six o'clock this morning it looked as though Lane would be the next Mayor. Then the count began to come in from Kakaako. In the sixth of the Fourth, a precinct which has always been strongly Republican, the tide was changed. Where in former years Sam Johnson has held the sway in an undisputed manner he was greatly missed and Bill Jarrett appeared as the peerless leader. His name was a charm and he carried Fern with him in a marvelous manner. In this precinct Fern got 193 votes to Lane's 95 and Achi's 61. This decided the election immediately. Had the precinct been more thoroughly organized the result would have been very different. Frank Archer and the majority of the men in the road department knifed Lane at every opportunity and threw their vote to the Democrats. Jarrett, as has been mentioned, stood high man.
